TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In the fall of 2003 our organization decided to purchase a network for our office. At that time, we hired Greg Alderfer of Keystone Technical Associates to set up the new network.

Given the fact that this was our first network, we needed a lot of help in understanding the dynamics of how this would impact our work flow. Greg was very patient and clear in his explanations of all of the details of this change. Whenever we had a question, we found Greg to be able to use “non-technical” language so that we understood the many intricacies of this new technology.

We have found Greg to provide timely responses to our many questions since the installation as well.

We would highly recommend Greg Alderfer and Keystone Technical Associates to other organizations.

Sincerely,

Sharon Comly
Client Services Director
